Course Description
This course introduces students to the various research designs used by psychologists, including experiments, quasi-experiments, surveys, case studies, and discursive approaches. We will evaluate the advantages and disadvantages of each of these methods, the philosophy of science supporting them, and the ethical issues they raise. By the end of this course, students should be able to locate empirical psychological reports in the academic literature, comprehend their design, and critically evaluate the findings. Students will learn how to assess different forms of psychological measurement, the nature of sampling, and research ethics.
Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Distinguish between experimental and non-experimental designs.
2. Demonstrate understanding of various research designs.
3. Define hypotheses, independent and dependent variables, validity and reliability.
4. Use traditional and electronic sources to locate psychological findings.
5. Demonstrate knowledge of the basics of scientific writing.
6. Demonstrate knowledge of the basics of referencing using APA style.
7. Understand ethical principles in the CPA code of ethics.

Grading as per Senate Policy

The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)

(For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar - http://calendars.students.yorku.ca/2016-2017/academic-and-financial-information/academic-services/grades-and-grading-schemes)
Late Work/Missed Tests

Students with a documented reason for missing a course test, such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., which is confirmed by supporting documentation (Attending Physician Statement which can be found at: http://registrar.yorku.ca/pdf/attending-physicians-statement.pdf) may request accommodation from the Course Instructor. Further extensions or accommodation will require students to submit a formal petition to the Faculty.

Test Policy
Students are expected to write each test on the dates specified. There will be 3 in-class tests in this course. The tests are based on the assigned textbook chapters and the class lectures. On Tests 2 and 3, the majority of the questions are non-cumulative, but a small portion of the questions will ask you integrate material from previous sections.

There will be no make-up tests, except under extraordinary documented circumstances. If you miss a mandatory test or assignment for no documented reasons, you will receive a grade of zero.

Important Information about Make-up Tests
If you have a legitimate reason (e.g., death in the family, severe illness, etc.) for being excused from a test, and have documentation to verify your absence, you may take a make-up test in lieu of the missed test. I am very strict about the conditions that will allow you to write a make-up test – nonetheless, you should contact me regardless of your reason if you have or will miss a test. You must email me and your course TA within 48 hours of the test and provide documentation in order to be permitted to take a make-up test. In this email, please (a) outline the reason for your absence, and (b) confirm that you have medical or other relevant documentation to support this reason. Again, be sure to note your course section and your full name and student number in the subject header of your email.

Please note that there will be one set date for the make-up test. If you are unable to make this date, other arrangements will not be possible so please make every effort to make this date and we will do our best to provide graded feedback before the drop date. Please also note, however, that if you miss a test(s) and the make-up of the test prior to the drop date, regardless of your reason, you have waived the right to have a specific percentage of graded feedback available to you prior to the drop date.

Documentation when missing an test
If you produce a valid medical document, signed by a physician, stating that you were medically unable to take the test for a specific time period, you will be able to take a makeup test. If you miss an test for non-medical reasons, you still must produce supporting documentation (e.g., death certificate, obituary notice, automobile accident report, airline ticket for emergency travel, etc.). Missing a test for a vacation, etc., is not an acceptable reason.
Once you have contacted me and your TA, you will need to have completed the attending physician’s statement found at http://registrar.yorku.ca/pdf/attending-physicians-statement.pdf. This should be brought to your instructors’ mailbox (located on the first floor of the BSB rm 101; if the mail room is closed try the undergraduate office) or faxed to the psychology department (with Attention Michael Pettig) at 416-736-5814. You will need to receive confirmation of the make-up examination date from your TA; you should be back in touch within a few days with your TA if you have not heard back. It is your responsibility to find out the information about when the make up test is and ensure that you are set to write the make-up test.

Test Banks:

The use of test banks is not permitted in this course and may be considered a potential breach of academic honesty. This includes but is not limited too; buying or selling test banks.

Electronic Devices During a Test/Examination:

Electronic mobile devices of any kind are not allowed during a test or examination. Students are required to turn off and secure any electronic mobile device in their bag which is to be placed under the chair while a test/exam is in progress. Any student observed with an electronic devise during a test/exam may be reported to the Undergraduate Office for a potential breach of Academic Honesty.

Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities:

While all individuals are expected to satisfy the requirements of their program of study and to aspire to do so at a level of excellence, the university recognizes that persons with disabilities may require reasonable accommodation to enable them to do so. The York University Accessibility Hub is your online stop for accessibility on campus. The Accessibility Hub provides tools, assistance and resources. Policy Statement

Policy: York University shall make reasonable and appropriate accommodations and adaptations in order to promote the ability of students with disabilities to fulfill the academic requirements of their programs.

The nature and extent of accommodations shall be consistent with and supportive of the integrity of the curriculum and of the academic standards of programs or courses.
Provided that students have given sufficient notice about their accommodation needs, instructors shall take reasonable steps to accommodate these needs in a manner consistent with the guidelines established hereunder.
