Course Description
This course is an introduction to social psychology—the scientific study of people’s thoughts, feelings and behaviours in a social context. The primary goal of the course is to provide students with knowledge and understanding of theories and research in social behavior, social perceptions and social relationships. Topics covered in this course will include research methods, attitudes and social information processing, social influence, the self, group processes, prejudice, aggression, altruism, emotions, and interpersonal attraction and relationships.

Learning Outcomes
Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate broad knowledge of social determinants of behaviour.
2. Describe and evaluate current theory and research in social psychology.
3. Understand and interpret principles of social psychology in everyday life.
4. Define causes of social behaviour from different perspectives.

Specific Learning Objectives
Students should leave the course with a broad understanding of the key research topics and theoretical perspectives in social psychology. Specifically, students should have knowledge of the different approaches to conducting social psychological research, understand the research methods used in social psychology, be able to discuss and evaluate key theories in social psychology, gain knowledge about how social psychology theory and research apply to everyday life, compare and contrast different theoretical perspectives of social phenomenon, and critically evaluate research findings in social psychology.

Description of Assignments

1. In-Class Participation (5%): Using Top Hat’s interactive learning application, there will be questions and discussion throughout the term. Your final grade will be based primarily on completion (i.e., just responding to the questions). Questions include participation-based questions that have no right or wrong answer and content questions that do have a correct answer (mostly you are graded on participation, not on correctness). I will also take attendance with this application, but this will not count towards your grade.

2. Midterm Tests (55% total): There are two midterms in-class during the semester. Midterm #1 will test on the first five chapters of the textbook plus the corresponding lectures. Midterm #2 tests on chapters 6 to 10 and the corresponding lectures only (Midterm #2 is non-cumulative). The exams will include a fairly even split of questions from the textbook and the lectures. The exams will primarily include multiple choice questions, but will include some open-ended, essay style questions.

3. Final Exam: The final exam in this course includes all chapters and lectures throughout the semester (i.e., it is cumulative). The final exam will follow a similar structure to the midterm exams.

Grading as per Senate Policy
The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ - 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)

(For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar - calendars.students.yorku.ca/2016-2017/academic-and-financial-information/academic-services/grades-and-grading-schemes

Late Work/Missed Tests or Exams
Students with a documented reason for missing a course test, such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., which is confirmed by supporting documentation (Attending Physician Statement which can be found at: http://registrar.yorku.ca/pdf/attending-physicians-statement.pdf) may request accommodation from the Course Instructor. Further extensions or accommodation will require students to submit a formal petition to the Faculty.

If a student misses one of the midterms for a documented reason, the percentage will be reallocated to the final exam. This means that if a student misses the first midterm (worth 25%), their final exam will now be worth (65%).

Electronic Device Policy
My policy on electronic devices is that they should be used only for purposes related to the course. If your use of electronic devices is inappropriate or distracting to me or the other students, you will be asked to put away the device or to leave class.
Attendance Policy
Attendance is at the student’s discretion. I will take attendance to assist with managing the in-class participation application, but students will not be graded on attendance. A portion of the student’s grade, however, is earned through in-class participation.

Academic Integrity for Students
York university takes academic integrity very seriously, please visit an overview of Academic Integrity at York University from the Office of the Vice-President Academic.

The following links will assist you in gaining a better understanding of academic integrity and point you to resources at York that can help you improve your writing and research skills:

Test Banks
The offering for sale of, buying of, and attempting to sell or buy test banks (banks of test questions and/or answers), or any course specific test questions/answers is not permitted in the Faculty of Health. Any student found to be doing this may be considered to have breached the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty. In particular, buying and attempting to sell banks of test questions and/or answers may be considered as “Cheating in an attempt to gain an improper advantage in an academic evaluation” (article 2.1.1 from the Senate Policy) and/or “encouraging, enabling or causing others” (article 2.1.10 from the Senate Policy) to cheat.

Electronic Devices During a Test/Examination
Electronic mobile devices of any kind are not allowed during a test or examination. Students are required to turn off and secure any electronic mobile device in their bag which is to be placed under the chair while a test/exam is in progress. Any student observed with an electronic devise during a test/exam may be reported to the Undergraduate Office for a potential breach of Academic Honesty.

Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities
While all individuals are expected to satisfy the requirements of their program of study and to aspire to do so at a level of excellence, the university recognizes that persons with disabilities may require reasonable accommodation to enable them to do so. The York University Accessibility Hub is your online stop for accessibility on campus. The Accessibility Hub provides tools, assistance and resources. Policy Statement

Policy: York University shall make reasonable and appropriate accommodations and adaptations in order to promote the ability of students with disabilities to fulfill the academic requirements of their programs.

The nature and extent of accommodations shall be consistent with and supportive of the integrity of the curriculum and of the academic standards of programs or courses.
Provided that students have given sufficient notice about their accommodation needs, instructors shall take reasonable steps to accommodate these needs in a manner consistent with the guidelines established hereunder.
