IMPORTANT NOTE:

This document contains two sections. Section I contains information compiled and disseminated by the Department of Psychology. All rules, regulations, and procedures in this section apply to and will be strictly enforced in PSYC2130 (A). Section II contains information specific to PSYC2130 (A), Fall 2016, with K. Phillips.

SECTION I: DEPARTMENTAL COURSE OUTLINE

Course Prerequisite(s): Course prerequisites are strictly enforced.

- HH/PSYC 1010 6.00 (Introduction to Psychology), with a minimum grade of C.

Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate broad knowledge of psychological determinants of personality.
2. Describe and evaluate current theory and research in personality psychology.
3. Understand and interpret principles of personality psychology in everyday life.
4. Define causes of human personality from different perspectives.

Grading as per Senate Policy

The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)

(For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar - calendars.students.yorku.ca/2016-2017/academic-and-financial-information/academic-services/grades-and-grading-schemes)

Late Work/Missed Tests or Exams

Students with a documented reason for missing a course test, such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., which is confirmed by supporting documentation (Attending Physician Statement which can be found at: <http://registrar.yorku.ca/pdf/attending-physicians-statement.pdf>) may request accommodation from the Course Director. Further extensions or accommodation will require students to submit a formal petition to the Faculty.

Make- up opportunities will be provided ONLY FOR THE FINAL EXAM (not missed midterms) in PSYC2130 (A). See Section II for specific policies in PSYC2130 (A)

Class Time and Location: Wednesdays, 7:00 - 10:00, CLH-A

Required Text: Funder, D. C. (2016). The Personality Puzzle (7th ed.) New York: W. W. Norton and Co.

Course Description and Specific Learning Objectives: This course will introduce students to the major theoretical approaches which guide research in the domain of personality psychology. It will provide a comparative analysis and critical evaluation of these approaches through the consideration of topical areas including: the problem of definition; issues in measurement and assessment; and factors which contribute to personality development. Upon completion of this course, students should be able to: articulate the assumptions and tenets of the theoretical models discussed in the course and how they have guided subsequent research, describe the interplay between theory and data within the field of personality psychology, describe the strengths and weaknesses of various theoretical models studied, and demonstrate an informed appreciation of the relevance of personality theories to other subdisciplines of psychology.

Procedures: Classes will meet for lectures of approximately 2.5 hours. The balance of the sessions will comprise films, discussions or tutorials. In-class tutorials will be conducted by the TAs and will deal mainly with the text material. They will provide an overview of the designated reading followed by questions and discussion. Students are advised to read assigned materials and prepare questions concerning problematic material in advance of the tutorials.

Moodle: Lecture outlines will be posted weekly on Moodle. Students are advised to check Moodle frequently for course announcements.

Evaluation: Evaluation is based on 2 Midterm tests and a Final Exam, each worth 33.3%. Exams will be non-overlapping in terms of course material and will consist of multiple-choice items based on the text material, lectures, tutorials and films.

Missed Tests and Exams: There will be no make up tests for missed midterms. In the event that a midterm is missed for legitimate reasons (and supporting documentation is provided), the weighting of that midterm will be added to the other midterm test. TAs must be notified of absence within 48 hrs. of the midterm. Students who miss Midterm 1 waive the right to have graded feedback prior to the drop date. Students who miss both midterms for legitimate reasons, will be required to write a midterm component, the nature of which is determined by the course director. A grade of 0 will be assigned to missed midterms in instances where students fail to provide appropriate supporting documentation. Students who miss the Final Exam must notify the TA within 48 hours to present their reasons. All students must write the final exam. Opportunities to write a Final Exam make up will be provided only to those students with legitimate reasons. Deferred final exams are held on a single common date determined by the Department of Psychology. No individualized testing opportunities will be available.

Grading: As noted in Section I, the grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York

With increasing frequency, students have requested grade adjustments at the end of term, in service of enhancing their GPA standings. As all multiple choice tests are scored by Computing Services, such requests will not be met. Grade adjustments, when warranted, will be applied to ALL students in the class, rather than on an individual basis. This practice is designed to ensure fairness.
