Course Description
This course will examine various topics related to community psychology, including theories and research, prevention and early intervention, community mental health, the community practitioner as social change agent, and applications of community psychology to various settings and situations. In general, community psychology is concerned with the application of psychological principles to understand and address social issues that affect communities (e.g., schools, neighborhoods, the workplace, the larger society), such as child abuse, homelessness, school violence, racism, crime, mental illness, and substance abuse. An aim of community psychology is to draw upon the resources of communities to develop solutions to resolve or prevent problems.

Community psychology is also concerned with the interrelationship between individuals and the communities in which they are imbedded (e.g., “community as context”) and the role of community development to enrich and strengthen communities to promote the optimal growth and development of its members and their health and well-being and mental health. In these regards, community psychology shares some concepts with clinical and counseling psychology, particularly the humanistic traditions, however, utilizing and applying resources both at the community-level and the individual-level.

Program Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate in-depth knowledge of community psychology.
2. Articulate trends in community psychology.
3. Express knowledge of community psychology in written form.
4. Describe and explain limits to generalizability of research findings in community psychology.
5. Demonstrate ability to relate information in community psychology to own and others’ life experiences.

Specific Learning Objectives

Grading as per Senate Policy

The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ = 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)

(For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar - Grading Scheme for 2017-18)

Late Work/Missed Tests or Exams

Students with a documented reason for missing a course test, such as illness, compassionate grounds, etc., which is confirmed by supporting documentation (Attending Physician Statement) which can be found at: http://myacademicrecord.students.yorku.ca/pdf/attending-physicians-statement.pdf may request accommodation from the Course Instructor.

Please note that the Attending Physician Statement MUST be submitted within 48 hours of the missed test and exam, otherwise failure to do so will result in a grade of zero for the test/exam.

Note: In the event a test is missed due to a religious observance other than formally scheduled exams (December and April examination period), students are responsible for contacting the instructor and giving no less than 14 days notice. Otherwise, if students cannot write a formally scheduled exam, they should contact the instructor no later than three weeks before the start of the examination period and submit a Religious Accommodation Agreement.

Students should AVOID scheduling any travel plans during the exam period (i.e., April 9 to 23, inclusive).

Further extensions or accommodation will require students to submit a formal petition to the Faculty of Health.

Please note that in the event that students write a make-up test, the test grade may not be available before the course drop deadline (e.g., Mar. 9).

Important New Information Regarding Missed Tests

For any missed tests or late assignments, students MUST complete the following online form which will be received and reviewed in the Psychology undergraduate office. HH PSYC: Missed Tests/Exams Form. Failure to complete the form within 48 hours of the original deadline will result in a grade of zero for the test/exam.

*Note: You may withdraw from a course using the registration and enrolment system after the drop deadline until the last day of class for the term associated with the course. When you withdraw from a course, the course remains on your transcript without a grade and is notated as "W". The withdrawal will not affect your grade point average or count towards the credits required for your degree.

Electronic Device Policy

Students are welcome to use devices during class that enhance their performance. However, use of these resources must be appropriate for an academic setting.

Examples of appropriate uses of technology include: audio recordings of lectures, note-taking on laptops or tablets, use of cell phones to schedule in tests/assignments or important dates, or use of devices to complete Google searches for relevant information.

In contrast, the following are examples of inappropriate uses of technology: texting or reading personal texts while in class, sending or reading personal emails, surfing the internet for non-class purposes such as using Facebook or other social media, and reading online information that is not relevant to class material.

Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend classes on a consistent basis. If a class is missed for any reason, students are advised to refer to the course outline, online lecture notes (Moodle), or to follow up with the Teaching Assistants or the Course Instructor in person. Due to time limitations and the large class size, it is not feasible for the course instructor to respond to all emails regarding missed information that has already been provided in class.
Academic Integrity for Students

York University takes academic integrity very seriously; please familiarize yourself with Information about the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty.

It is recommended that you review Academic Integrity by completing the Academic Integrity Tutorial and Academic Honesty Quiz.

Test Banks

The offering for sale of, buying of, and attempting to sell or buy test banks (banks of test questions and/or answers), or any course specific test questions/answers is not permitted in the Faculty of Health. Any student found to be doing this may be considered to have breached the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty. In particular, buying and attempting to sell banks of test questions and/or answers may be considered as “Cheating in an attempt to gain an improper advantage in an academic evaluation” (article 2.1.1 from the Senate Policy) and/or “encouraging, enabling or causing others” (article 2.1.10 from the Senate Policy) to cheat.

Electronic Devices During a Test/Examination

Electronic mobile devices of any kind are not allowed during a test or examination. Students are required to turn off and secure any electronic mobile device in their bag which is to be placed under the chair while a test/exam is in progress. Any student observed with an electronic devise during a test/exam may be reported to the Undergraduate Office for a potential breach of Academic Honesty.

Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities

While all individuals are expected to satisfy the requirements of their program of study and to aspire to do so at a level of excellence, the university recognizes that persons with disabilities may require reasonable accommodation to enable them to do so. The York University Accessibility Hub is your online stop for accessibility on campus. The Accessibility Hub provides tools, assistance and resources. Policy Statement.

Policy: York University shall make reasonable and appropriate accommodations and adaptations in order to promote the ability of students with disabilities to fulfill the academic requirements of their programs.

The nature and extent of accommodations shall be consistent with and supportive of the integrity of the curriculum and of the academic standards of programs or courses. Provided that students have given sufficient notice about their accommodation needs, instructors shall take reasonable steps to accommodate these needs in a manner consistent with the guidelines established hereunder.

For Further Information please refer to: York university academic accommodation for students with disabilities policy.
