Course Description
Throughout this course, each student will carry out an independent piece of psychological research, supervised by an individual faculty supervisor, resulting in a final written thesis. Students will also attend a seminar designed to provide additional resources and experience. Students will practice presenting their ideas and research results to others and will learn more about how to do so effectively. Students will also have the opportunity to learn more about how to broaden their interest in psychology through postgraduate studies. We will discuss how to create a strong graduate school application to increase the chances of being accepted and excelling in graduate school.
Importantly, a goal of this course is also to create a community where students can learn from each other and become socialized regarding what it means to be a graduate student in psychology. The requirements of this seminar course are relatively minor; however, the opportunities for individualized learning are great. To some degree it is up to each student to make use of this seminar to fully reap the potential benefits. Students are encouraged to ask questions, make suggestions, and request material to be covered to ensure that their individual needs are met to the greatest extent possible.

Program Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students should be able to:

1. Use data analytic software for analysis of psychological data.
2. Design, execute, analyse and interpret results from a study examining a specific research question.
3. Express in written form psychological findings using APA style.
4. Express in written form, a research study in psychology.
5. Recognize limits of conclusions based on inferential statistics.
6. Critically identify limitations of individual research endeavors.
7. Apply ethical principles of the CPA code of ethics to their own research.

Specific Learning Objectives

At the end of this seminar, students will demonstrate

1. Enhanced presentation skills
2. Increased research skills
3. Increased knowledge of how to excel in graduate school

By the end of this course, students will have demonstrated the ability to conduct research, to present research findings (both verbally, in writing, and in a poster format), and to critically evaluate others’ research ideas. In addition, students will demonstrate an advanced knowledge of what is required to create a strong graduate school application and ultimately to excel in a post-graduate studies.

Your supervisor may by okay with your use of the 6th ed of the APA manual. You can see some of the differences in the reference styles between 6th edition (below) and 7th edition (above):

Other Texts to Consider:

Grading as per Senate Policy
The grading scheme for the course conforms to the 9-point grading system used in undergraduate programs at York (e.g., A+ = 9, A = 8, B+ - 7, C+ = 5, etc.). Assignments and tests* will bear either a letter grade designation or a corresponding number grade (e.g. A+ = 90 to 100, A = 80 to 90, B+ = 75 to 79, etc.)

(For a full description of York grading system see the York University Undergraduate Calendar from last year - Grading Scheme for 2020-2021)

Late Work/Missed Tests or Exams
If you have a reason for missing a deadline or presentation (e.g., illness), which is confirmed by supporting documentation (Attending Physician Statement which can be found at: http://registrar.yorku.ca/pdf/attending-physicians-statement.pdf), you may request accommodation from me and/or your thesis supervisor. This might require that you take deferred standing (http://myacademicrecord.students.yorku.ca/deferred-standing). Further extensions or accommodation will require students to submit a formal petition to the Faculty. If you do not have data collected in time to present on poster day or do not have a thesis ready to provide to a second reader, you will receive a grade of ‘0’. Please make your thesis supervisor aware of this and plan accordingly. If you have any concern that you might not meet these deadlines, please contact me immediately to set up a meeting.

Academic Integrity for Students

York University takes academic integrity very seriously; please familiarize yourself with Information about the Senate Policy on Academic Honesty.

It is recommended that you review Academic Integrity by completing the Academic Integrity Tutorial and Academic Integrity Quiz.

Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities

While all individuals are expected to satisfy the requirements of their program of study and to aspire to do so at a level of excellence, the university recognizes that persons with disabilities may require reasonable accommodation to enable them to do so. The university encourages students with disabilities to register with Student Accessibility Services (SAS) to discuss their accommodation needs as early as possible in the term to establish the recommended academic accommodations that will be communicated to Course Directors as necessary. Please let me know as early as possible in the term if you anticipate requiring academic accommodation so that we can discuss how to consider your accommodation needs within the context of this course.

https://accessibility.students.yorku.ca/

Excerpt from Senate Policy on Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities:

1. Pursuant to its commitment to sustaining an inclusive, equitable community in which all members are treated with respect and dignity, and consistent with applicable accessibility legislation, York University shall make reasonable and appropriate accommodations in order to promote the ability of students with disabilities to fulfill the academic requirements of their programs. This policy aims to eliminate systemic barriers to participation in academic activities by students with disabilities.

All students are expected to satisfy the essential learning outcomes of courses. Accommodations shall be consistent with, support and preserve the academic integrity of the curriculum and the academic standards of courses and programs. For further information please refer to: York University Academic Accommodation for Students with Disabilities Policy.

A Thesis Proposal which includes the Introduction (literature review) and Method sections must be submitted to your supervisor no later than Monday December 21 or by another date coordinated with your thesis supervisor (no later than January 15th). This work is graded by the thesis supervisor and is worth 10% of the final course grade. This deadline will ensure that you begin writing in the first term and that progress is made in your research project; it also will allow you to receive feedback from your supervisor. It is highly recommended that some or all of the thesis data be collected by the end of the Fall Term.

Poster Day participation is mandatory. The course director will assess a pass (5/5) or fail (0/5) grade. Poster Day is tentatively scheduled for Monday April 12 from 10:30 am-12:30 pm in Vari Hall. The poster presentation will provide an opportunity to receive feedback about the thesis before submitting the thesis draft. If Covid guidelines are still in effect at that time, then posters will be submitted electronically instead.

The External Thesis Evaluation will be provided by another faculty member, sometimes referred to as the "second reader", who evaluates the final product (the written thesis) and not the process (e.g., the amount of work and/or thought that was involved in getting to the final product). The seminar course director is responsible for assigning a second reader to each thesis and the grade is worth 20% of the final grade. In order to give the second reader enough time to evaluate the work and provide his/her grade to the supervisor, you will be required to submit a full draft of the thesis by Friday, April 16 at noon.

The Supervisor Thesis Evaluation accounts for 50% of the final grade and reflects an evaluation primarily of the final product, with consideration also being given to the student’s contributions to the process (ideas, creating stimuli, recruiting and running participants, etc.). The final version of your thesis is due to the undergraduate office and your supervisor no later than 3:00 on Tuesday April 27.

Seminar Participation is a required component of the Specialized Honours Thesis course. As such, the course director will contribute 15% towards the student’s final grade. Students’ oral presentations (2 – worth 5% each) as well as their attendance and contributions during class discussions (5%) will be graded. If you must miss a class, please let me know in advance.

CLASS SCHEDULE (Fall)

Tuesday, September 15 - Introduction / Orientation / Ethics Requirements
We will meet one another and have an open discussion as a group about how this seminar course can best meet your needs. We will talk about getting started with your thesis research, including the ethics requirements that you will need before conducting your research. We will also start taking about pre-registration of studies as well as thinking about graduate programs, preparing to apply for graduate programs (personal statements and GREs), and funding post-graduate studies.

Tuesday, September 22 – Day in the Life of a Graduate Student
Graduate students from the Graduate Psychology program at York will speak about their experiences applying to and being in graduate school in psychology. Topics to be covered include: becoming a competitive applicant, writing the GREs, deciding on programs/schools, applying for funding, as well as interviewing and ultimately accepting a position in a research-intensive graduate program. Please come prepared with any questions.

Tuesday, September 29* – Completing Scholarship Applications: OPTIONAL
During this optional class period, we will discuss the scholarship application process. We will review some successful scholarship applications and talk about the characteristics of strong vs. weak applications.

Many scholarship applications are due December 1st (tri-council agencies). These take time to put together and should be started as early as possible. Please see the eclass site for more information.

Tuesday, October 6 – Getting Started with your Introduction
During this class we will talk generally about how to write clear, effective academic papers and how to avoid writing mistakes. In preparation for the class I ask that each of you take note of one particularly well written and one poorly written research paper that you have read for your thesis project (or in another class). Pay particular attention to the introduction – and what made you interested (or not) in the topic. Please bring both papers to class, along with notes about why you think the one succeeds and the other fails to communicate clearly. We will also review the format of both the thesis proposal and the final thesis at this time.

Tuesday, October 13 – NO CLASS (Fall Reading Week)
Tuesday, October 20 – Preparation of Personal Statements, CVs, and emails to Potential Supervisors

We will talk about some important points to consider when creating your personal statement and CV for your graduate school or research position applications. We will also discuss how to succinctly describe your background and research interests when emailing potential supervisors. Once you are accepted into a graduate program, you will be expected to interview with students and faculty (in person or remotely). We will discuss what can help you to make a strong favorable impression on potential supervisors and how to learn everything that you will need to know in order to decide on the right graduate program for you. Please come prepared with any questions that you might have. In advance of this class, please start a draft of your CV and bring it with you to class for discussion. If you are uncertain of what to include in your CV, or how to format your information, please come with questions.

Tuesday, October 27 – Effective Oral Presentations

In this class we will move from informal communication to formal communication. In preparation for this class I ask that each of you give some thought to what makes for a good academic talk. Select a TED talk that you think is effective or ineffective and email me the link to this talk by Monday October 19th. Please come prepared to engage in discussion and share your thoughts on that TED talk with the class. If you find one that is less effective, please reflect on why. Try to focus on the talk itself more than the content.

Tuesday, November 3 – NO CLASS (optional - personal statement due)

Please use this class time to work on your thesis and to finalize your personal statement, particularly if you will be applying to graduate programs this year. If you would like for me to read through your statement and provide feedback, please provide me with your statement by this date. Either Iris or I will aim to provide feedback within 2 weeks.

Tuesday, November 10 - Research Presentation (Worth 5% of your final grade)

Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 15-minute presentation outlining your thesis proposal, which is basically a brief review of the literature and a description of your study method. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, November 6, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Tuesday, November 17 - Research Presentation (Worth 5% of your final grade)
Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 15-minute presentation outlining your thesis proposal, which is basically a brief review of the literature and a description of your study method. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, November 13, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Tuesday, November 24 - Research Presentation (Worth 5% of your final grade)
Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 15-minute presentation outlining your thesis proposal, which is basically a brief review of the literature and a description of your study method. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, November 20, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Tuesday, December 1 - Research Presentation (Worth 5% of your final grade)
Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 15-minute presentation outlining your thesis proposal, which is basically a brief review of the literature and a description of your study method. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, November 27, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Tuesday, December 8 (if necessary)- Research Presentation (Worth 5% of your final grade)
If we don't finish the presentations in the previous 4 weeks, whoever is remaining will be assigned to record a 15-minute presentation outlining your thesis proposal, which is basically a brief review of the literature and a description of your study method. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, December 4, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Thursday, December 21 – Thesis Proposal Due (Worth 10% of your final grade)
Please provide your thesis proposal (including the introduction and method sections of your thesis) to your thesis supervisor by this date (or by another date arranged with your supervisor – no later than January 15th).
CLASS SCHEDULE (Winter)

No Classes in January and February - Individual meetings are available during class time when requested.

Tuesday, March 2 - How to Present Research Results.
In this class we will talk about how to share your findings. We will review how to create a great poster presentation. We will also discuss how to best present your results visually, in a presentation and in your thesis, as well as how to discuss null findings. Finally, we will talk about how to write a solid abstract.

Tuesday, March 9 - Research Presentations (Worth 5% of your final grade)
Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 10- to 15-minute presentation on the results and interpretation of your findings. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, March 5, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Tuesday, March 16 - Research Presentations (Worth 5% of your final grade)
Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 10- to 15-minute presentation on the results and interpretation of your findings. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, March 12, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Tuesday, March 23 - Research Presentations (Worth 5% of your final grade)
Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 10- to 15-minute presentation on the results and interpretation of your findings. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, March 19, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.

Tuesday, March 30 - Research Presentations (Worth 5% of your final grade)
Approximately 1/4 of you will be assigned to record a 10- to 15-minute presentation on the results and interpretation of your findings. Those students should send me their videos by Friday, March 26, so I can upload them to eclass. The rest of you will need to watch the presentations before our class meeting. During this class, we will spend approximately 10-15 minutes asking questions and making suggestions about each presentation.
Tuesday, April 6 - Draft Poster Presentations and Feedback

Please send a draft of your poster presentation as a one-page handout to me by Monday, April 5 so I can upload it on eclass. During the class, we will go through each poster. Be prepared to give a 2-minute summary of your research. You should also prepare a 5-minute summary, which you can give to peers in a breakout room. Time yourself. You will want to start by stating your research question (a) In this study, I(we) was(ware) interested in examining XX; next explain how you did this (b) We had x participants complete..., and finally (c) explain what you found, how this fit with your hypotheses, and why this is important. To move from a shorter to a longer explanation, you might provide more information on the method, results, theory behind the study and/or implications of the findings.

Monday, April 12 – Poster Day from 10:30-12:30 in Vari Hall (if COVID-19 restrictions in effect, then poster will be submitted electronically to me instead).

Friday, April 16 – Thesis due for Second Reader by 12 noon (worth 20% of your final grade) - Ideally your thesis supervisor will have provided feedback on at least one draft of your thesis before the thesis is submitted to the second reader. You should receive feedback by Friday April 23 that you can work to integrate into your final thesis.

Tuesday, April 27 – FINAL thesis due by 3:00 (worth 50% of your final grade)

A hardcopy of your thesis and TCPS certificate are due to the Undergraduate Office (BSB 292) by 3:00 (if virus restrictions permit—possibly will be submitted electronically). A final softcopy should also be submitted to your supervisor by this date.
